as he left them — are baseball gloves and spiked shoes, photos of hunting and fishing trips, shells he found on the lakeshore, his old catapult, a dozen "inventions" he had designed in evening hours.

On the bureau stands the picture of his "best girl," signed and framed. For this was his own and special "own." How may anyone say this is an empty room? Very neat and trim it is. His mother has a habit of "tidying" it. It is here that her quiet prayers are said. The room has become holy with sacrifice.

Between the boy and us is the span of oceans and the length of far horizons. Yet memory and the companionship wrought in his childhood days bind us in love and communion. So helpless we feel, his mother and I, knowing the little we can now do for him who is our own warm flesh and blood.

Here we are, two people past the crest of the years, whose ambition it has been to watch the boy become a man—a good man—and settle down and be happy in his home. We live in safety and in comfort only because his brave young body and gallant spirit stand between us and the evil things of war. Perhaps he was in our debt because we loved him as a child; now we are in his debt through his love for us.

Yet there is one thing we can do for him. We have bought a bond, a Victory Bond, token of our affection and our loyalty. It shall be his when he returns, a nest egg for his beginning when the storm has passed. If the Spirit of the Good Life has other plans

Put Victory First

Add to Your Post-War Nest-Egg . . .

Each of us must buy more Victory Bonds—because more bonds mean more of the vital munitions that will guarantee Victory. The more money you lend now the more money you are saving—the more money your Victory Bond investment is making—the more money you will have to spend on the bigger and better values in post-war products. Buy an extra Victory Bond now for your nest-egg when the war is won.

—if we are not to meet again in this world—the bond stands as a mark of our faith in each other which none of us ever, for one moment, doubted. By this sign he shall know that neither war nor the far horizon, nor death, can destroy our mutual loyalty.

We have bought this bond at some cost. We shall go without comforts and conveniences. We shall buy other bonds. We shall go without more of the satisfaction and privileges that living in Canada has given us. How else could we be worthy of the boy whose little room now stands open to the sunshine and the songs of spring? How else could we prove worthy of the boy whose spirit whispers to us, at dawn and at sunset, to be strong and loyal and true?

Of course we have bought a bond—Thank God.

MAIN STREET

One of the most democratic institutions in modern Canadian life is the small town Main Street, quoths The Tweed News. It is an institution for it never changes—a few shiny store fronts, etc., may modernize its surface, but the great, generous kindly heart of it beats as steadily today as it did 50 or 100 years ago.

The even tempo of small town life sometimes confuses city visitors. It takes an effort on their part to understand that the comparatively leisurely way of doing business on Main Street is not inefficient. They rarely realize that the merchant wouldn't sell a nickel's worth if he did not take time to manifest his genuine interest in the state of his customer's family, garden and health.

The Main Street community is quite unconscious of class distinctions as the world knows them. All classes, rich and poor are accepted into the circle. The qualifications are merely that the members feel a sense of belonging to the small town brotherhood, joy in their neighbors' success and sorrow in their failures.

This sharing of emotions is what confuses the city folk on Main Street. The slower pace of small town life gives time for kindness at the bottom of every human heart to rise to the surface. Main Street, in this respect, is a close approximation of Rousseau's natural state. Here is the communal feeling of the French philosopher's natural man, the simple virtue that he eulogizes.

The boys and girls in the services have something behind them which no city-dweller can fathom. The Main Streeters in His Majesty's uniform know their personal sacrifices are appreciated in the home town, that their places will not be filled in a month or even a year, and that in case they fail to return, Main Street will grieve and in its heart will never cease to mourn the sons forever gone.

Main Street is the very hub of democracy, the essence of what the United Nations are defending. Main Street is within itself a way of life that is good and simple and kind. And if its steadfast heart should ever cease to beat, the Freedom we claim for Canada would be a dead and lifeless thing in the community.

THE EMPTY ROOM

(By James P. Dunn in The London Free Press)

There's an empty room upstairs, but it is empty only to the stranger. For there are pictures on the walls, and pennants and trophies and knickknacks on the bureau, and the memory of his work and his play dwell there. It can never be merely a vacant room any more.

This is where he grew up. This is the record of his life from the time we moved the cradle out of our room, and he was old enough and big enough to demand a room "all my very own."

Within this sanctuary he made his lures and his flies. Here he set up the microscope for which he had long saved his pennies. Here he kept his first goldfish. On this old maple bed he read "The Three Musketeers," "Treasure Island," "The Arabian Nights," "Sherlock Holmes," "King Solomon's Mines," "The White Company" and "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea."

The record of his day is mirrored on the walls. In the drawers of the bureau—lying

FACED with the difficulties created by wartime shortages in labor and machinery, Canadian farmers carried on with the equipment that was available, and it is a tribute to their energy and enterprise that they have attained the tremendous increases needed to serve the needs of the United Nations.

To assist them in their greater production programmes, Massey-Harris and its dealers set new and higher standards of service to farmers. In the maintenance of equipment in the hands of farmers, they have prolonged the use of machines beyond their normal life period, and by reconditioning and rebuilding, they have put back into service machines much needed to compensate for the shortage of new ones.

In the supplying of parts—always a feature with the Company—Massey-Harris and its dealers have, during these difficult days of shortage, rendered such an outstanding service as to earn the reputation of being—"The Best Farm Machinery Service in Canada."

'WAY BACK WHEN

Frank Fairborn, Jr.

I have been asked by several people during the past few weeks, mostly newcomers to the district, innumerable questions regarding the late John Hewitt. To answer these questions properly I reprint here an article I wrote at the time of Mr. Hewitt's death, Thanksgiving Day, October 9th, 1919—25 years ago.

The late John Hewitt was the third son of Thomas Hewitt, and was born in Grimsby Township on October 23, 1842, and spent the early part of his life in this locality. From his very earliest childhood he exhibited a remarkable capacity for business which grew and developed with age and through his life had handled many big schemes and shown an unusual business acumen. Mr. Hewitt amassed a large fortune and died a very wealthy man.

Mr. Hewitt's first business venture was when he spent six months in learning the trade of carpenter; but from this line of business he turned to that of saddlery and soon opened a shop of his own in Grimsby Village, in a building where the Hotel Grimsby now stands. At the age of about twenty years he gave up this line and went to Toronto where he engaged with the Tremaine Map Company, and later compiled maps of the different counties of Ontario, himself and had been published by the Tremaine people.

From Toronto Mr. Hewitt proceeded to Chicago and engaged in wholesale and retail merchandising and later turned to real estate. From Chicago he went to Pittsburg where he manufactured sad irons and crimping irons and other lines of goods of a like nature. In this business he was assisted by his younger brother Thomas C. In due time, Mr. Hewitt disposed of his interest in this manufactory and returned to Chicago, where he again engaged in the real estate business and in the purchase of lands for railroad plants. His line of operation was to buy Chicago property at what he thought was a good purchase and wait for a rise in value; and his judgment and keen insight was so good that he often made large amounts on his transactions.

At the time of the World's Fair Mr. Hewitt and his brother Thomas C., built and operated the Plantation Hotel, which became the headquarters for Canadians, and was one of the few hotels operated at a profit during that Exposition. The famous leader of the Independent Order of Foresters, Dr. Orontekas and his staff and family made their headquarters at the Plantation Hotel and this made it also the headquarters of the I.O.F., which, at that time, was one of the most prosperous fraternal organizations in America, or the world.

Sir Oliver Mowat, at that time Premier of Ontario, was initiated by Orontekas into the mysteries and secret work of the Foresters in the Plantation Hotel who was assisted in the initiatory services by many prominent Canadians, amongst others being the late Nicholas Awy M.P.P., for South West-

Immediately following the close of the World's Fair, Mr. John Hewitt became interested in the Miehle Printing Press Company and his conduct of this manufacturing plant was really the master-stroke of his life.

In 1893 the then proprietor and manager of the Miehle Company frequently appealed to Mr. Hewitt for financial assistance, as the company was passing through a very critical stage in its career, and although it was turning out high class presses it was in a very precarious financial condition. Mr. Hewitt thus became interested in the plant and eventually decided to buy up the stock, which he did at a low figure.

As soon as Mr. Hewitt secured control of the Miehle Company he immediately commenced a system of reorganization and in due time his efforts were crowned with success as the Miehle became the leading flat bed press of the world, and after its careful management by Mr. Hewitt as president and treasurer, for many years, he retired and sold his stock for eleven times what he had paid for. One block of one hundred thousand dollars worth bringing him the handsome sum of one million one hundred thousand dollars. At the time of Mr. Hewitt's retirement from the management of the affairs of the Miehle Company, the plant was turning out eighty-five per cent. of the entire flat bed printing press output of the world.

During the time that Mr. Hewitt was conducting the affairs of the Miehle Company, he had secured large blocks of real estate in Chicago, Ill., St. Louis, Pittsburg and Canada, and at the time of his death he still held considerable interest in these places.

During his life, Mr. Hewitt also dabbled a little in gold mining having at one time, owned two mines in Idaho, one of them being a very rich property but so far from railway facilities that it was impossible to work it at a profit and so it was abandoned after a considerable amount had been expended in developing it.

In later life, Mr. Hewitt turned his attention to the place of his birth, Grimsby, Ontario and in many ways his activities were beneficial to the community. He built, at heavy expense, and without thought of financial remuneration, the Village Inn, which has always been and is yet one of the finest hotels in Ontario, and is known far and wide by tourists and travellers.

Mr. Hewitt spent large sums of money in building piers and dredging at the lake, for the convenience of those who wished to use the harbor. He has been most liberal to all our churches, and educa-

Every Canadian wants this war over—and the sooner the better. Every Canadian wants to see the fight taken to the enemy's very door; to see war wiped off the map of the world forever.

It's good, ordinary horse sense that this won't be accomplished until everyone on the home front does his full part.

Canadian soldiers are fighting with courage and self-sacrifice, but this alone will not win the war. War demands the support of us at home. What are you doing about it?

Put some of that horse sense we Canadians talk about to work. Be smart. Buy Victory Bonds.

tional institutions and was ever ready to extend a helping hand to any one in need.

To Mr. Hewitt's generosity, the 44th Regiment band became a subject when he presented them, some years ago with a complete set of the finest brass instruments that could be procured and at a later date he again became their benefactor by presenting them with a complete outfit of uniforms.

The late Mr. Hewitt held large real estate blocks, not only in Grimsby, North Grimsby, but in other parts of the County of Lincoln, and in the cities of Hamilton and Brantford.

Mr. Hewitt was a man of most likeable disposition being quiet and unassuming and without any ostentation; living a very plain and quiet life. He was most highly esteemed by those who knew him best.

In business matters, Mr. Hewitt was a man of remarkably quick decisive quality, deciding almost instantly on matters of business, whether large or small, and acting without delay. Although he became a millionaire yet his business career was a most chequered one and up to the time that he became interested in the Miehle Company, in 1893, he had engaged in a great many lines of business, and even after he assumed control of the Miehle Company he still held heavy financial interests in other manufacturing concerns and big real estate deals.

Mr. Hewitt had been married twice; first in his early youth to Miss Annie Rarey of Columbus, Ohio, who died about three years after their marriage; and he was married the second time to Miss McIntosh of Chicago, but formerly of Hamilton, Ont., and she predeceased him by about eight years.

WHEN GRANDMA LOST HER GLASSES

When Grandma lost her glasses, then she hunted high and low, She said: "Now where the world could those old silly glasses go?" She hunted in the kitchen, and she searched the pantry, too She said: "If I can't find them now, what ever will I do?"

She said she knew she had them not a half an hour before, And hoped they'd not get stepped on if she'd dropped them on the floor. She looked upstairs upon the bed, and on the chest-of-drawers, She took the broom and swept beneath to see what that would yield;

She shook her apron and her dress, she felt the window sill, She said: "Wherever they have gone, they keep most awful still; Oh I know where they may be, so I'll go and take a look, When I quit reading maybe I just dropped them in the book;"

But they were not there, so she sighed: "I wonder where they are?" When came little Bobbie, asking "Phot y' lookin' for?" Grandma replied: "My Glasses, dear", then Bobby laughed and said: "Phy I know for dey are, Gramma, dey've aboved upon yoe' hear."

Guests in some hotels are being asked to make their own beds if they stay more than a day. Soon there will be no point in staying out of the Army.

The Trend To Femininity

Despite women snipers who have scores of Germans to their credit, the feminine trend in Russia is toward greater, not less, femininity. One of the recent changes, for instance, is segregation of sexes in primary education. That, according to Olga Michakova, secretary of the central committee of the Russian Youth Organization, is to counteract the tendency in early Soviet days to sex equality indoctrination. Olga has said: "We are definitely reacting against the criminate equality which our girls practised for a long time. So thought of them wore trousers and caps and smoked incessantly. They thought that necessary to feminine emancipation." Now, in spite of the war and women's work in the factories and actual combat service, Soviet are cultivating femininity in all 16 republics that make up Russia.

Compulsory Matriculation

There's a unique school for parents in San Francisco and it already has over 200 graduates. Matriculation is compulsory. The pupils are parents who, as the result of the misdeeds of their offspring, have been sentenced by the juvenile court to take a course in the responsibilities of parenthood.

Technicality they have been found guilty of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. The class they are compelled to attend covers a wide range of subjects. A judge tells them of the city playground department maps a play program for them. A representative of a public employment agency discusses after school and vacation jobs as delinquency antidotes. Clergy of various denominations speak on the religious training of children, and psychologists from the health department give talks on mental hygiene. There is no class in corporal punishment. No experts from the state penitentiary are called in to demonstrate ways of applying the lash or rod unsparingly to the child. So far, the parental school has had no repeaters.

A Glass Sided Stove

In the kitchen of tomorrow, now on exhibit in New York, the most revolutionary thing is the stove. It has glass sides that permit the cook to keep her eye on her roast without opening the oven door. In this glass cabinet, in addition to the oven, there is a rotary barbecue, indistinguishable from an old-fashioned spit run by dog power. Along side the glass cooking cabinet is another cooking unit containing an automatic toaster, an electric waffle iron, and wells for glass cooking vessels that can be removed and placed on the table. The refrigerator is in between the kitchen and the dining room and has sliding glass doors that can be opened from either side.

The Paradox of Le Sinatra

Considering how very often one hears the name of Sinatra, it is amazing how very little he has to offer the initiated. If he had a voice out of the ordinary one could understand the advertising he has received, but a thousand voices all over the country are much superior in total quality. They can be heard daily on the various programs over the air and no one seems to go into any ecstasy over them. But perhaps one has to have a certain mentality, or is it a lack of mentality, to be moved by the underlying pathos in the voice that is supposed to cause maidens to swoon. Of course there have always been such maids, addicted to such swooning. It used to be the sight of blood or a mouse that overcame them, now it is a mouse of a man, a mouse lacking in the quick and vital energy of the average mouse, which would scorn to move to the slow and dawdling rhythm of the male crooner. Why women have ever come under the influence of such singing is strange, to say the least, for the normal woman is supposed to admire virility in a man, the things that speak of his maleness, the deeper voice, the masking of any weakness, his energy and his quickness to take over, and how this lugubrious drawl of a mike-grasping teardrop can move any but hysterical adolescents to emotional fervor is beyond me. I am moved surely, but only with a keen desire to stick a pin into some part of the anatomy of the traducer of the male voice, in the hope that he might be hurried in the rendering of his song, and so off the air. It is natural for girl to be romantically minded. It would indeed be a sorry outlook for marriage if they were not, for romance allows them to see, for the time being at least, the ordinary male as a very extraordinary creature, the possession of whom is much to be desired. It's Dame Nature's way of assuring a succession of male and female off-spring, whom she will bedevil in the same dancing way, but what's happened to the old beldame that she now takes pains, not only to bedazzle the eyes but to confound the ears of this generation of mothers-to-be?

Such a furore has the gentleman in question caused that pictures appear in all the newspapers across the continent of his wife presenting to the astonished world a new Sinatra. Astonishing indeed in view of his listing in the medical categories of his country and so perhaps sufficient excuse for all the publicity the event occasioned. The crooner is probably the successor of the matinee idol of at least carry in his person all the attributes women were supposed to admire in a man. He was always tall and handsome, had a thrillingly masculine voice and carried himself with the assured and dignified grace of the prince of the fairy story. And he was always cast in characters where his brave and noble masculinity had a chance to do its utmost to stir the willing admiration of his youthful admirers. Any girl could dream a quite satisfactory dream with him as the centre of operations. But how put a lackadaisical whisperer of raucous songs on such a plane? Truly, it's beyond me. Evelyn A. Long.

Adult Habits Set Example For Young Fry

Children are great imitators—just watch a small girl going through the same routine with her doll as Mother turns up his nose at spinach, ten to one, Johnny will refuse to eat his.

"Most parents fail to realize the important influence of their own food habits on those of the children," says Dr. L. B. Pett, Director, Nutrition Services, Ottawa. He points out that strong likes and dislikes of certain foods are frequently transferred to the younger generation.

"If parents learn to eat and like the foods that are necessary for health, it will not be difficult to establish good food habits in the children, which will pay life-long dividends in health."

Ration Cards For American Tourists

American tourists are entitled to the same ration allowances as are provided for Canadian citizens. Visitors to Canada should apply to the Local Ration Board immediately upon arrival at their destination. They will be given an application form, and on completion of this will obtain a temporary ration card. Temporary ration cards are issued to visitors who remain in Canada for five days or more.

Should the visitor be going to an isolated part of the country where there is no local ration board they may obtain the application form at the port of entry into Canada. This form may then be mailed to the nearest office of the Board.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN
Hydro Home Economist

Hello homemakers! Victory the vitamin C quantity of your gardeners are eagerly awaiting the days when the garden plot can be ploughed or spaded and made ready for vegetable seeds and plants. Everyone knows that their garden can provide some of the vegetables that will be scarce in supply. Providing for home consumption, victory gardens release more supplies for the men and women in the armed forces, fighting for victory.

Inasmuch as the supply of seeds is limited and the plot may be small or not suitable for root vegetables, we suggest that you plan wisely for your family needs—both nutritionally and in sufficient quantity to prevent waste.

A Few Tips to the Amateur Gardener:

1. Leaf lettuce should be given preference over head lettuce and one-half a five-cent package is ample to plant at one time for a family of four.

2. A wide variety of green leaves for the salad bowl can be grown by home gardeners, assuring an inexpensive supply of vitamin-rich foods throughout the summer and fall. Romaine is an alternative for leaf lettuce (often called cos lettuce). Endive has a distinctive flavour and should be planted later than the romaine (the curly leafed type is richer in iron than the broad-leafed type). Chervil is an aromatic plant, somewhat resembling parsley but superior in flavour. However, like parsley the seed is slow to germinate, but both parsley and chervil can be potted late in fall, and used to improve the vitamin C quantity of your winter's salads.

4. Chives is a useful salad vegetable. It is a cousin of the onion, of which the leaves are used.

5. Yellow turnips are stronger than white but are more nutritive when properly cooked. Turnip greens are one of the best sources of vitamins A and C.

6. Beet tops are very valuable and may be cut off without injuring the vegetable. Cook quickly in a small amount of water, without salt. Steaming requires too long and cooking in fat also kills vitamin content.

7. Chinese cabbage has more mineral content than white cabbage but is more difficult to grow. Be sure to plant hardy winter cabbage plants if you have adequate winter storage room.

8. Navy beans are better than lima beans and there is usually more yield from the plants.

9. Green peas have a high score, compared to corn on the cob.

As many as four sowings of leafy vegetables may be made with good results.

Brother, Should You Spend a Dime?

A dime is small change! But when a lot of dimes march out of your pocket they soon become dollars that start to fight other dollars, for the new neckties, dresses or furniture left for us to buy. This battle of the dollars is called INFLATION because it starts prices rising! And the higher prices go...the less your dollar is worth! For instance, during the last war, people had to pay for sugar that you get for today. A voile night dress was compared to the you pay now. Your dollar buys more goods, is worth more than the dollar of 1914-18. Price ceilings and other anti-inflationary measures have helped keep its value high. And remember! Every time you use your money wisely to pay off a debt or to increase your savings when you refuse to hoard goods or patronize black markets...it makes your dollars worth MORE!

Make This Pledge Today!

I promise to give my support to keeping the cost of living down. I will buy only what I need. I will observe the ceiling whether buying or selling goods or services. I will pay off old debts, save for the future, invest in Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates. And I will support taxes which help lower the cost of living.

Keep Your Dollar Value High!

BLOOD PLASMA EXPERIMENTS FIRST MADE SEVEN YEARS AGO

For 200 Years Medical Scientists Did Not Know Why Transfusions Killed Some People And Revived Others.

FOUR BLOOD TYPES

It is Not Now Necessary To Match The Blood Of The Patient Before Giving a Plasma Transfusion.

It was during the reign of Louis XIV of France that doctors first experimented with blood transfusions. The first experiment was with a dying boy in Paris. According to the story, the King's personal physician introduced lambs' blood into the boy's veins, and within a short period of time, the lad recovered. This started the popular animal to man transfusions which caused many deaths and which were finally ended by a ban of both the church and government.

For two hundred years medical scientists didn't know why transfusions killed some people and revived others. At least not until a scientist working in the United States discovered that there were four different types of human blood, O, A, B, and AB. When the blood of an 'A type' person was mixed with that of a 'B type' the red corpuscles stuck together and the person, as likely as not, died.

The first experiments in developing blood plasma, which is the liquid part of the blood that remains after the red and white corpuscles have been removed, took place in 1937. By 1939, a process for drying blood plasma into powder form was developed. Today, using plasma, it is no longer necessary to match the blood of the patient before giving a transfusion.

The story of Red Cross blood plasma is a familiar one to Canadians, for every day of the week, hundreds of them enter the doors of the blood donor clinic, and willingly donate a portion of their blood which will eventually go to the wounded on the battlefields. The blood is first put into a machine, something like a cream separator. This machine separates the plasma from the red and white corpuscles. The plasma is then frozen solid and the water is removed by a vacuum process. By this time it is in the form of a golden flakey powder. When it is required for use, sterile water and the powder are simply mixed together and the transfusion given on the spot.

larger towns and cities ensure a regular supply of this plasma. But many smaller towns and villages, particularly in Ontario, just as anxious to do their share, had no clinics. So the Red Cross formed a mobile division of the Blood Donor service which regularly visits more than 115 Ontario towns and villages where more than 2,500 donations are being received each week.

JUNGLE DRIPS WITH DEATH GHOSTS LURK IN COLUMNS

The following observations were written by Sergt. Gordon D. Marston of Stoneham, Mass., a U.S. marine corps combat correspondent.

The jungle is a place:

Where one doesn't have to sink to his knees to pray because he's already up to them in mud.

Where there are no horizons to scan, not even the one towards home.

Where men, with their tan drained away by jungle suction, file along a trail in a column of ghosts.

Where men die cursing the thing they couldn't see.

Where there are no boys . . . just men who became of age the first time a Jap machine-gun stuttered their name.

Where your clothing gets so dirty it finally taps you on the shoulder and asks to be relieved.

Where you can put up with the snakes, but not the danger in the bushes 50 yards away.

Where veterans, long overseas, get to think of foreign service as being in the United States.

Where you wouldn't want to live but have to fight to do so.

Where you hear your own artillery shells fluttering overhead, sounding like mother rustling fresh sheets while making a bed.

Where a mound of earth and a rugged cross breaks the skyline of the rising sun.

Where men don't cry, because the ability to do so is no longer there.

Where the fellow whom mother couldn't induce to wash behind his ears now cusses because he can't take a bath.

Where the sweat of a man's finger drowns a cigarette.

Where patriotism is never discussed.

Where a marine may not be quite so good as he thinks he is, but no Jap would dare tell him so.

Where, at night, the jungle darkness squashed men into their fox hole, but fails to smother thoughts of home.

Where a marine charges a pill-box, armed with only a grenade, but giving the impression he would have done the same thing with a handful of rocks.

Where a man sits and wonders how he ever did the thing that earned him a medal.

Where the Japs call to breakfast with a mortar shell.

Where a man can get sick of the war in 30 seconds.

Where a man often wonders if the people at home know what it is really like out in this damnable jungle.

When one compares the present day prices in England with our own Canadian prices for the same articles, we cannot see where Canadians are faring too badly.

Beast Of Berchtesgaden Admits The R. A. F. Spoiled The Last Chapter Of Mein Kampf.

I Adolf Hitler, being of unsound mind and misery, and considering the possibility of a fatal accident known as assassination, declare this to be my last (you hope) will and testament.

To France, I leave all the beautiful Mademoiselles in occupied Paris. I was never the one for girls.

To England, I leave the original manuscript of Mein Kampf, which their R. A. F. spoiled. I had written a different finish, but their fliers got me in the end.

To Norway's Quisling, I leave my Double Cross. He was a piker compared to me, when it came to double-crossing.

To Poland I leave a 16 x 10 gold framed photograph of myself to hang in their public school to scare any kid who might think along Nazi lines.

To the Jews, I leave a new holiday, which they will celebrate annually. The whole world knows I was kind to them but they somehow did not seem to appreciate it.

To America, I leave Walter Winchell who always said: "To Hell with Hitler." I know he'll be very busy on my funeral day so he'd better not come. Business before pleasure.

To Mussolini, I leave my Chaplin mustache, which he is to make into a toupe for his ivory dome. He will need the disguise to hide from the Italians who know what a mess he got them in.

To Russia, I leave all my frozen assets. I never could warm up to Comrade Stalin or get near enough to Moscow to even smell vodka.

To Franklin D. Roosevelt, I leave my apology for interrupting his fishing, but he got even. His "Unconditional Surrender" agreement at Casablanca certainly cooked my goose.

To Goebbels and Ribbentrop I leave 30 million marks (two dollars) to buy a gift for my mother and father, who are getting married the day I die.

To Count Ciano, son-in-law of Mussolini, I leave the Victoria Cross for bringing down in one day, 41 bombers and 72 fighters—all Italian.

To Japan's (Land of the Rising Sun) Hirohito, I leave all my medals which will help him sink quicker when he goes down in the Pacific.

To the German People, I leave all pictures of myself, especially those printed on soft paper, as I know what they will do with them.

To Hitler and Goering, I leave the final execution of my will as they are experienced at execution.

To the Entire World I just leave, and will they thank God!

My final wish is that I be buried in an asbestos suit, as I know I will need it where I am going.

HIS MAJESTY CONGRATULATES YOUNG GRIMSBY ARMY OFFICER

Capt. Gordon Hunter, Son Of William And Mrs. Hunter, Grimsby Beach Commanded Guard Of Honour When His Unit Is Inspected By The King—Highly Pleased.

CAPT. GORDON HUNTER

Somewhere in England, March 10, 1944.
Dear Mother and Dad:
I am late in writing this week, so that I could tell you some real news.

King George inspected the division yesterday. Our unit supplied the Guard of Honour and I was the Guard Commander. The King is our Honourary Colonel but how we were chosen to supply the guard I'll never know, and how I was chosen as Guard Commander is another mystery. At any rate it is quite an honour.

Thank goodness there were no hitches. The men were like clock-work and everything went off first rate. I feel very pleased because a good many Senior Officers complimented me on the guard and I hear the civilians thought it very good.

I got quite a kick ordering the Royal Salute. Present Arms. At no time was I nervous or excited. During the inspection the King was very formal, and I really looked the men over. He addressed me.

For the present he will erect a garage upon this lot, but is planning the erection of a new home that will contain all the up-to-the-minute, practical, post war household ideas and appliances.

Wm. H. Moore is the purchaser of the old Millward home at 28 Main street east, from Clarence Konkle, who purchased the property last fall.

During the past three weeks James I. Theal, local Realtor, has sold to H. C. Jeffries, two fine mountain farms, on the Ridge Road west. The Freeman Bows-lough 60 acres and the A. E. Etherington 100 acre place.

He also negotiated the sale of the late Dr. Alway homestead of 50 acres and the stone house to Councillor Malcolm Nelles.

While nothing definite has been closed for building lots, Charlie J. DeLaplante has several sets of plans for new homes in the draughting stage for local people.

St. Catharines Is Ninth Largest City In Ontario — Has Seventh Largest Overall Assessment.

On the basis of 1943 population figures, St. Catharines is Ontario's ninth largest city. Assessment Commissioner M. H. Laird stated on Tuesday. There are 31 cities in Ontario.

In order of population, the leading nine cities are: Toronto, 674,285; Hamilton, 174,547; Ottawa, 163,829; Windsor, 118,040; London, 81,158; Kitchener, 36,348; Sudbury, 35,812; Brantford, 34,848; St. Catharines, 34,599.

However, St. Catharines has the seventh largest over-all assessment, the Sudbury and Kitchener assessments being less than the $35,747,881. St. Catharines' assessment last year. Sudbury's is $23,137,812, and Kitchener $34,395,756.

Commissioner Laird said he doubted whether a popular increase would be shown in St. Catharines this year. Assessors are now making their annual census and assessment and while returns will not be completed until July or August indications are that the population may remain the same.

Lincoln Liberals Elect Officers

Annual Convention Held At Beamsville — Paul J. Martin, M.P. For East Essex Chief Speaker.

Fred Beattie, of St. Catharines, presided at the annual meeting of the Lincoln County Liberal Association held in Beamsville on Wednesday night when the following officers were elected: President, J. M. McKee, St. Catharines; vice-presidents, Walter Shepherd, Queenston, and Mrs. Mary McCann, of Merrittton; secretary-treasurer, Walter Hanna, St. Catharines.

Zone chairmen are: No. 1—Niagara-on-the-Lake, Niagara township and Merrittton, Mayor W. H. Singer, Niagara-on-the-Lake.

No. 2 — St. Catharines, Robert Johnson.

No. 3—Grantham, Port Dalhousie and Louth, Arthur Craise, Port Dalhousie.

No. 4 — Beamsville, Clinton, North Grimsby and Grimsby, Harold Freure, Beamsville.

No. 5 — Caistor, Gainsboro, South Grimsby, Charles Freure, Wellandport.

On account of long associations in the positions of president and secretary pro-tem, Fred Beattie and Arthur Craise handed over their respective offices to the new nominees. Senator J. E. Bench introduced the speaker for the occasion, Paul J. Martin, M.P. for East Essex and the parliamentary secretary to the Minister of Labour.

Mr. Martin dwelt on the achievements of the Liberal administration during the last five years. Per capita, Canada had achieved perhaps the greatest prominence for its contributions of any of the Allied Nations. Tributes from such leaders as President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Hon. Anthony Eden were cited.

Resolutions of confidence were extended to Hon. Mackenzie King and Harry Nixon.

"Shining Future" Coming To Moore's

Specially Produced Picture For Victory Loan Campaign Contains Galaxy Of Stars — Depicts Life In 1860.

An exciting event, to everyone from executive staff to sound stage technicians, was the arrival on the Warner Bros. lot of the one and only Bing Crosby. "The Pride of Paramount" is also the pride of the entire motion picture industry, and the friend of everyone. His progress from the main gate to Sound Stage 9 was a triumphal procession of first name greetings.

Thus began the first of two days' "shooting" of Bing's sequence in "The Shining Future," the picture made in Hollywood by the entire motion picture industry on behalf of the Canadian Motion Picture War Services Committee, and showing at Moore's Theatre Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

Once in rehearsal, Bing was given an audience that included virtually every member of the musical staff of the Warner studios, such top ranking company executives as Jack and Harry Warner, and director Michael Curtiz, plus stars like Jack Carson, Irene Manning, Dennis Morgan, Humphrey Bogart, and others who had taken time out from their own shooting schedules to hear and watch Bing Crosby at work.

For half the forty piece orchestra as well as the executives and stars, The Bing had a first name greeting and a query about wife, or children, farm or pets. The man's amazing Hollywood popularity was demonstrated by his turning from greeting one of the most important men in the motion picture industry to greet with equal cordiality the grips who were putting the final touches on the stage setting.

In "The Shining Future," Bing sings a brilliant number titled "The Road to Victory," written by Frank Loesser, who also composed the song "Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition." Upon learning that Crosby wished to use his number in the Canadian film, Loesser, who is now in uniform at a camp on the Atlantic Coast, spent a week-end leave writing new Canadian lyrics for his inspiring song.

Tiny Baby Placed In Foster Home

Children's Aid Society Has Many Problems These Days — War Time Mothers Are Irresponsible.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Children's Aid Society of St. Catharines and Lincoln County was held Tuesday, with President A. E. Coombs presiding.

According to the report, it was necessary to place a year and a half old baby in a temporary foster home during the month because of the irresponsibility of the mother. The mother and father had separated.

Superintendent Lloyd S. Richardson referred to the case as an example of a certain type which is becoming more prevalent and has been aggravated by wartime conditions. Children cannot be penalized, Mr. Richardson said, because of the indiscretions of the mothers and it is the duty of the Children's Aid Society to guarantee that they have a decent chance in life.

Superintendent Richardson also reported the case of a five-year-old boy who had been placed in a foster home in the county, who became suddenly ill. The doctor was called immediately and diagnosed the case as acute appendicitis. Arrangements were made immediately and the child rushed to the nearest hospital, which was at Hamilton and an emergency operation was performed. The child's life was saved through the promptness of all concerned and he is now doing very well in this foster home again.

The doctors in the county and city have always co-operated with the Society and have given of their time unsparringly to help the needy children of this community. The health of all children in care is assured by the monthly examination for children under one year and an annual examination for older children. The Kiwanis Club has provided cod liver oil.

Rural Service Extensions in Wartime

War demands come first. Many of the materials needed in providing Hydro rural service, that are plentiful in peace-time, are now required in the manufacture of war weapons. Likewise, many trained Hydro men have taken up war duties in the Army, Navy and Air Force. This results in a shortage of manpower, materials and equipment.

Although working under great difficulties, created by these wartime conditions, Hydro will continue to provide essential rural services as rapidly as possible. However, it can be readily realized that with smaller construction crews, coupled with the scarcity of supplies, it is not possible for Hydro to effect extensions of power lines and services to farms as promptly or on the same scale as in peacetime.

Hydro will make every effort to provide service to the more essential farm and other rural users connected with the production and processing of food. Those farmers and other users requiring electricity to assist in the production of food and for the replacement of labour will be given preference. Farmers located along existing lines will be given priority over those in areas where lines must be constructed. In any case, only extensions of limited length can be considered. All other rural residents on new or existing lines will be supplied with Hydro service as and when conditions permit.

Hydro trusts that this, along with the previous messages, will enable rural consumers to more readily understand the new uniform Hydro rural rates and the influence of wartime shortages of manpower and materials on power extensions. Upon your request, further information on these matters will gladly be supplied by any Hydro Rural District Superintendent.

THE HYDRO-ELECTRIC POWER COMMISSION OF ONTARIO

This completes a series of messages explaining the new Rural Rates and the problems of electric supply to farm and hamlet consumers served direct by The Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario. We suggest you clip and keep these explanations.

KEEP 'EM ROLLING

Walt Hits Fed Up — Doug. Boyd Having Time Of His Life — Harold Merritt Goes Joy Riding Over Berlin — "Pop" MacCartney Still Percolating.

A whole mail bag full of letters and post cards from all points overseas, was dumped on "Cammy" Millyard's desk last week. There are some swell letters in this batch and we print some of them here. There will be more next week.

Dear Carm:

Back again with thanks for another lot of cigarettes which arrived today and which were really welcomed not only by myself, but a goodly number of the other boys as well. It seems to be a bad time of year right now for cigarettes as everyone seems to be fresh out, but we manage to keep going by borrowing and about the time you run out someone shows up with a few packages they borrowed when they were out, so all in all we seem to keep smoking and seem to be happy.

I had a letter from Jack Sutherland a few days ago and he seemed happy enough, or at least his letter read that way to me, but then did you ever see Jack when he wasn't happy? We used to meet quite often, when he was here, and have weekends together. Thanks again for the cigarettes and keep up the good work. I know everyone appreciates what is being done for us. The best to all for 1944.

Luck,
Sergt. Lionel Lymburner.

Italy,
Feb. 4, 1944.

Dear Mr. Millyard and Friends:
I am dropping you a few lines to

Help Us Fight For Old Grimsby

THE RUMMERY BROS.

thank each and everyone of you for still sending us smokes. I had three hundred from you one day and the next I got some more. Boy, and do they ever taste good to us. You see we are somewhere in Italy now and you can not buy cigarettes here. We could in England but they were not as good as the ones we got from home. So I will thank you a million again.

Yours truly,
Gnr. J. A. Robertson.

Jan. 27, 1944.

Dear "Cammy":

A few days ago I received a very welcome surprise in the form of three hundred cigarettes. Thanks a million. Without a doubt, good Canadian smokes have been the most appreciated gifts of the war. Thanks again.

Occasionally I get an "Independent" with all the news from home. My subscription was paid for a full year, but the "Independent" seems to arrive in "spasms"! Do you think that "Bones" is making money at my expense? Seriously though; the paper is really nice to get.

Things in general are progressing very well in this part of the world. As far as my own small part in it goes—well, in several raids over Germany, I have made three trips to Berlin. I think, would rather be "grouching" at a referee, in one of the old ball games.

Thanks again,
Sgt. Harold Merritt.

Italy,
Feb. 17th, 1944.

Dear Sir:

Once again Mr. Millyard the three hundred cigarettes sent me have arrived. I appreciate thoughtfulness of yourself and associates very much.

We are very busy just now, what with trying to learn how to say "hello" in Italian, and also how to wade through mud, the art of which, although learned in childhood days has long since been forgotten. We have been receiving quite a few Christmas parcels within the last week (yes I noticed you glance up at the date (however they are arriving and that is what counts).

I had the good fortune to meet with Cliff McCartney about two weeks ago, after looking for him in England for two years. He looks real well and we spent a couple of evenings together talking about how things were at home.

In closing I want to thank you again for always remembering me when you send cigarettes out to the boys.

Yours truly,
Norm. Johnson.

England,
March 13, 1944.

Dear Mr. Millyard:

I have just received 300 cigarettes from you, and I certainly think you people at home are really doing something worthwhile. I really appreciate them a lot and want to thank you very much for them.

"Cheerio for now, hoping to see you soon.

Yours respectfully,
Mel Smith.

Overseas,
March 1st, 1944.

Dear Sir:

I want to thank you very much for the grand gift of cigarettes which I received from you. They

Berlin Or Bust On Your Bonds

PTE. KEN WARNER

were appreciated beyond words and guarded as if made of gold. It is wonderful to know that someone besides our folks remember us after we leave home. I don't think the boys want a much better comfort than a good Canadian cigarette. If anyone is doing their share on the Home Front it is the grand citizens of Grimsby. I'm sure the rest of the boys feel as I do. So again I want to thank you, the members of the Chamber of Commerce, and all the people possible who try to make the boys feel at home away from home. Thanks a million and all the best.

Yours truly,
W. H. Travis.

Merry England,
Feb. 18, 1944.

Dear Carm:

Just a short note before I turn in, to thank you for all the fags I've been getting. I got a carton from the Chamber of Commerce just before I went on leave, they sure come in handy there. I saw Don Taylor and Walt Hilt in the Beaver Club in London; poor old Hiltale, looked kinda fed up, can't understand it, I'm having the time of my life, guess maybe if I'm over here another two years I'll want to go home too.

Time to sign off. Thanks again,
As ever,
Doug. Boyd.

Italy,
Feb. 10th, 1944.

Grimsby Chamber of Commerce,
Cigarette Fund.

Dear Sir:

Almost two weeks ago I sent you an acknowledgment of some cigarettes indicating that a letter would follow. My intention at the time was to write the next day, but—you know the old army excuse—"owing to the exigencies of the service."

Yesterday I received yet another carton of smokes. Thanks. How inadequate that word is.

May I mention the weather? Due to the mountainous terrain the weather is very changeable. Four days ago it was so warm that I stood out in an olive grove and had a bath. Since then we have had every type of weather imaginable—rain, snow, hail, with a gale thrown in for good measure and above all, the inevitable result of all the downpours, MUD! "Nuff" said.

For the first time in many weeks we are billeted in a building, which is a welcome change from our pup-tents. The cellar of this building contains a huge barrel of "vino", I would say about five hundred gallons of it. How Jerry missed it I can't understand. Naturally the lads decided to sample it. WOW! What a mixture. The Eyette who owns it is carting it away in fifteen gallon kegs, via donkey. Two of these kegs are strapped one on each side of the animal. The loads these small donkeys carry are enormous.

We see many strange customs here, the most common being the usual European attitude of the men towards their women folk. As far as I can see the Italian woman does all the work and the man reaps the benefit. The custom of carrying all and sundry objects on their heads seemed rather strange to us at first. I have seen women carrying four and five gallon containers full of water on their heads without touching it with their hands and seldom spilling a drop. This custom certainly gives them a wonderful posture. They carry themselves like queens.

Planes Don't Fly On A Single Wing

It does not take long for the civilians to get back into the swing of commercial life again. In the parts of the country which have been taken over by us for some time, the fruit farmers are busy with their pruning and other winter work. Of course it is much different here nearer the front where everything is at a standstill. As there was no market for crop, fruit was not picked last season (with the exception of the fruit our men picked for their own use) and thousands of olives were left on the trees—literally thousands of acres of them.

(No wonder Olive Oil is hard to get).

I could go on for ages describing the things I have seen but I don't want to bore you. Thanks again for the cigarettes—it was so good to get some mail, which has been very scarce lately. As yet we have received no Christmas mail.

Gratefully yours,
Cpl. A. Mahady.

Give This Man a Warm Welcome

You may not regard the Victory Loan salesman as a salesman when he calls on you. He is a man from your community whom you likely know well . . . perhaps a neighbor. He may never have done any selling before.

He has taken on 'his work because he feels that it is an important war job that must be done.

As a matter of fact he is not trying to sell you anything. He will ask you to save money.

Farmers are doing an important war job, too . . . producing food. Most farmers have increased their incomes. They have money to save.

You plan to use this money, and the things you plan to use it for are necessary things.

The Victory Loan salesman will ask you to let your country have the use of your savings now by putting your money into Victory Bonds.

Our big job now is to win the war, and to win it as soon as we can. That's why every Canadian is asked to buy Victory Bonds. It's why each of us is asked to buy a war can. You can buy them with cash, which you have saved, and you can buy more bonds and pay for them as you earn money, over a period of six months.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Jas Wray and her committee.

SULLIVAN-HILDRETH — On Saturday, April 15th, 1944, at 4 o'clock in St. Andrew's Anglican Church, by the Rev. E. A. Brooks, Marjorie Alberta, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hildreth, to William Harold Clinton, only son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Sullivan, Main St. W., Grimsby.

Easter Services St. Mary's-on-Hill

His Excellency the Most Rev. Basil Vladimir Ladyka, O.S.B.M., D.D., of Winnipeg, Titular Bishop of Abydo and Exarch of the Ukrainian Catholic Diocese of Canada, celebrated pontifical Mass in St. Mary's Ukrainian Greek Catholic Church at Grimsby on Sunday. During the mass, two students of theology of the Basilian Order, Brothers Benedict Hrynashyn, of Vernon, B.C., and Gregory Chmilar, of Mundare, Alberta, were ordained deacons.

Assisting Bishop Ladyka at this Easter High Mass were Rev. Father Nicholas Kohut, superior of the Grimsby monastery, and Deacons Orest Zasybida, O.S.B.M., and Jerome Chimy, O.S.B.M., and the Basilian choir, conducted by Brother Plato Soroka.

During the mass the Gospel was read in four languages — Greek, Latin, Old Slavonic and Ukrainian. The beautiful vestments of the Bishop, priests, deacons and altar boys made the ceremony a colourful one.

Adding to the impressiveness of the occasion was a sepulchre at one side of the church, built by the Basilian brothers, the beautiful structure representing the hill Golgotha on which the Lord died, with the sepulchre at the foot and the figure of the Lord surrounded by flowers, Candelabra, etc.

At the close of the service Bishop Ladyka complimented the congregation of St. Mary's on its church activities. He offered prayers for those in the armed services and closed by giving his Bishop's blessing to all.

In the evening special service was conducted according to services in Jerusalem before the sepulchre. The Easter Mass was opened by a procession with the Blessed Sacrament.

Presentation To Rev. Taylor-Munro

On Friday evening, April 14th, the congregation of St. John's Presbyterian Church gathered at a Farewell Banquet and social evening tendered to Mr. George Taylor-Munro, who is leaving to take charge of a new field in "God's Vineyard". His new charge will be at Penetanguishene. Rev. Taylor-Munro has endeared himself to many organizations outside of his charge in Grimsby. His genial smile and ready Scotch wit will be greatly missed.

Mr. D. C. Thomson occupied the chair. The following contributed to the social part of the evening: Mr. Jack Ansell, Mr. Harold Jarvis, Miss Isobel Stevenson, Miss Joan Murray, Miss Jean Durham, Mrs. Tweney at the piano.

Rev. G. Taylor-Munro was the recipient of a well filled billfold, donated by the men of the congregation, and presented in a most able manner by Mr. William Sangster. Mrs. Sam Harris in her quiet, amiable way, presented a well filled purse to Mrs. G. Taylor-Munro from the ladies' organizations, also the young son and two daughters were not forgotten by their Sunday School playmates. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor-Munro both responded very ably, giving an invitation to any of the congregation when passing their way to call in and enjoy old acquaintances.

Toast to the Ladies given by Mr. A. C. Price, responded to by Mrs. Sam Harris, President of the Ladies' Aid, Mrs. W. H. Morris, President W.M.S., and Mrs. D. C. Thomson, President of the Beaver Club.

Rev. Dr. Neil M. Leckie, and Rev. J. A. Ballard were present, taking part in the program.

The evening closed with God Save the King.

Trinity W.M.S.

The Easter Thank-offering meeting of the Women's Missionary Society was held on Thursday afternoon, April 13th, at Trinity Hall, with Mrs. Burgess presiding.

A very interesting part of the program consisted of talks and readings by Mrs. Watt, Mrs. Wilkins, Mrs. Snyder, Mrs. Caton, Mrs. Hawley and Mrs. Boden, all revealing the fact of the widespread extent of the Christian Church. It is said that the Allied soldiers during the war have gone to many strange places, to find strange languages, strange customs and strange religions, but they have found Christians everywhere — in China, the Philippine Islands, Burma, India, Iraq, Iran, the East Indies and Pacific Islands, the lands around the Mediterranean and many parts of Africa. Some know no other religion, such as the Island of Samoa, and the Fiji Islands. A chaplain on a Pacific Island writes, "Out here we find the Christian religion the closest tie we have with our strange neighbours."

Mrs. H. A. Boyd, Smithville, was the guest speaker. In her charming manner, she gave a most interesting outline of the Missionary efforts of the Christian Church, beginning about 2000 years ago, and leading up to the present tremendous missionary work being done in every country of the world today.

A very fine Easter Offering was received, and after the close of the meeting, a social half hour was enjoyed.

CUBBING

On Good Friday morning, 34 excited young cubs, accompanied by the Old Wolves, set forth from the High School and walked to the Point. On reaching the mountain top the Parade Circle was formed and the Grand Howl given in true Cub style. A.S.M. Don Pettit who accompanied the Pack lost himself in the woods so successfully that the Sixes had a hard time finding him but finally the Red Six tracked him down. After lunch games were enjoyed. The Cubs returned home tired but thrilled with their first trip to the Jungle.

Merritt Anderson, of the White Six, was presented with the Col-lector's and the Artist's Badge by the Akela at last week's meeting. The Akela at last week's meeting, and Cubs practiced somersaults and had a grand game of Dodge Ball. Following the instruction period a sing song was held around the campfire.

A few of the caps, which have been on order for some weeks have arrived and it is hoped that before long all the Cubs will have received their equipment.

Grimsby Young People's Club

The Young People's Club, sponsored by Grimsby Lions Club are holding another party April 21st at Grimsby High School. This party will be in the form of a dance, and the entertainment committee have arranged for a great many novelty dances.

The Executive would especially ask all young people to turn out for this, more particularly the boys, as we are short about fifty or sixty. And to those who do not dance, those of us who think we can, will endeavor to show you how. Splendid music will be supplied by Tommy Horrachuk and there will be a number of good prizes. Hot dogs and cocoa will be served and will be included in the 10c admission price.

This was to be our last party, but plans are being made for another and a more formal type of dance, with a Big Name Orchestra. Also organized sport get-togethers during the summer months.

The Executive had intended to restrict the ages from 16 years, but owing to the interest shown by so many of the 15 year olds, we are very pleased to invite them to come along.

St. John's W.M.S.

St. John's Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society met for their Easter Thank Offering meeting in the Church on Thursday evening, April 14th. Mrs. Morris presided, and opened the meeting with prayer. A Hymn was sung, and the Scripture lesson read by Mrs. Wm. Sangster, followed with Prayer by Mrs. Taylor-Munro. Miss Isobel Stevenson sang very sweetly, "The Master is Come", accompanied by Mrs. Dick. The minutes of the March meeting were read by the Secretary, Mrs. Burke, and confirmed. The President then introduced the Guest Speaker, Mrs. Donald Munro, President of the Hamilton Presbyterian, who gave a most inspiring address on the Mission work in the various fields. She told of how our Canadian soldiers in Africa and in the Pacific Islands had received help in the most unexpected places from natives, who had been taught by Missionaries. These examples refute the remark "Mission efforts are fruitless" so often heard. "God Moves in a Mysterious Way".

On behalf of the Society, Mrs. Little thanked Mrs. Munro for her very fine address. The meeting closed by repeating the Mizpah benediction.

Lions Celebrate Sixth Birthday

District Governor Walter Fisher Pays Visit — High School Cadet Officers Extend Thanks For Band Instruments.

Lions Club celebrated their 6th birthday anniversary at the Village Inn on Tuesday evening, when Walter Fisher, of Niagara-on-the-Lake, District Governor, paid his annual visit to the club. He brought special good wishes from St. Catharines Lions, which club had sponsored the local unit at the time of its formation, and stated that the St. Catharines Lions were more than pleased with the wonderful growth and the stable condition of the local club.

Mr. Fisher gave a very graphic address on current affairs, tying them up with Lionism and pointing out the good work that can be accomplished by the Lions in the years to come.

A pleasing feature of the evening was a special visit paid to the club during the evening by Major Andy Fulton and the officers of the High School Boys' and Girls' Cadets who came to personally thank the Lions on behalf of the Cadet Corps for their kind donation of funds for the purchase of bugle band instruments. The instruments were on view at the dinner and Band Instructor Wally Phipps was present to give forth information. The new organization will get under way this week.

A presentation of a brief case was made to Rev. G. Taylor-Munro and to Dr. Ben Rogers was presented a piece of poetry wherein Lions promised the gift of a piece of surgical equipment as soon as it is procurable.

several questions during the inspection. After he had finished he said, "the Guard looks very smart."

Later in the afternoon Charlie McKay (the other officer of the Guard) and I were presented to the King at a tea they held for him. He was natural as can be, languid and very friendly. He seemed to enjoy himself. We had about two or three minutes conversation with him, mainly about the Guard. I was very pleased things went OK, otherwise my name would be mud. It was a lot of work and quite a bit of worry.

"GAMECOCK" IS FIT

Say Bones, how did Rusty make out with his Hockey this year? The last I saw, he was playing St. Kitts a tie game. I hope he brought the kids through for another victory for he is the guy that can do it. Remember 1939-40. Say Bones if you ever see "Pud" Reid Jr. give him my congrats on the new addition to his family. I was talking to some Grimsby boys the other day. Art Luey, Chuck MacKenzie, Alex L. La, the two Durham boys, and Guy Winters and they all wish to be remembered back in Grimsby. Say that "Cammy" Millyard is really doing a good job for us boys over here, you can thank him for the cigs, that I have received, for it really tastes nice to smoke good old Canadian cigs. The only thing we can't get over here is a good bottle of I.P.A., but we will be getting it very soon, just as soon as we clear up this little mess with that guy with the moustache. Well Bones, I guess this is all I have to say right now, whenever you get time, drop us a line and I will answer it right away.

Cheerio for now, be seeing you by this time next Easter.

broadcasts will be made at 12.25 noon on April 26th, April 29th, May 3rd, May 8th and May 11th.

Don't let accumulated wartime irritation persuade you to ease your temper on the Victory Loan salesman when he calls. He is a Canadian like yourself, striving to do his best to bring success to the drive and $1,200 millions to the Canadian Government's Treasury. He is not doing this for the money that he can earn as these men are giving up this time from their own business.

The Victory Loan salesman who knocks at your door has spent a lot of time training for his job; he is tired, working under pressure to make hundreds of calls in three short weeks. Be ready for him and have your decision made beforehand—a decision that must be favorable.

We have all bought Victory Bonds and know what it is like to have the salesman press us to invest more than we feel we can afford.

The housewife has been annoyed by him calling when she was housecleaning; the businessman has been irritated by his entrance as some situation required all his attention.

The truth is that we are all living in a state of irritation. We are irritated because we have to do our duty to do so. We are irritated because there is a war on although we know we had to enter it. We are irritated because our husbands, sons and brothers are in the services although we would be the last to try to hold them back. We are irritated in a vague sort of way with regulations.

In the midst of all this irritation there on the doorstep is a sacrificial lamb—a Victory Bond salesman. On him it is easy to vent our accumulated irritations. The way from income taxes to the trouble we had last week getting a dozen pints of beer.

When the Victory Bond salesman calls, forget about your troubles and petty irritations. As a matter of fact you have no troubles compared to what the boys in the front line have.

They have plenty of troubles, besides the Heine. They are battling dust, mud, slush, wet clothes, hot sun, cold rains, cockroaches as big as elephants. Lice as big as horses. They have no hot baths to tumble into when the day's work is done, because there are no baths done, because there are no baths done, and the day's work is never done.

Therefore be kind to the Victory Bond salesman because he is only the intermediary between you and the boy over there. The boy over there is saving your country, saving YOU and your children. YOU are providing the funds to keep that boy supplied with all the necessities of war that he needs to protect YOU. The Victory Bond salesman is only the man in between.

On YOU. Not on the boys in the firing line, or on the salesman, RESTS VICTORY.

(An extract from "Talking Points")

When the Nazi armies overran Europe, escape was not easy, let alone escape with a ship. Yet wherever it was humanly possible intrepid men brought their ships to carry on the fight from Allied bases. Ships that were at sea at the time their country was invaded obeyed the order to sail for Allied or neutral ports, and gradually ship by ship an international navy of men whose life was the sea, and whose only desire was to beat the invaders, found its way to Great Britain.Then each exiled Ally began to re-form its navy in British ports.
Some were large, some consisted of only a handful of ships which had managed to escape. British shipyards were working miraculously fast. And while they replaced heavy losses sustained by the Royal Navy early in the war, they built ships too for the Allies who came to fight with them.Great Britain, Canada, U.S.A., France, Norway, Holland, Poland:
—men of many nationalities make up the United Nations' Navies, but two things they all have in common — a desire to conquer Axis tyranny for all time, and the blinding tie of the love of the sea.

DISABLED

(By Wilfred Owen)

He sat in a wheeled chair, waiting for dark,
And shivered in his ghastly suit of grey,
Legless, swan short at elbow.
Through the park
Voices of boys rang saddening like a hymn,
Voices of play and pleasure after day.
Till gathering sleep had mothered them from him.About this time Town used to swing so gay
When glow-lamps budded in the light-blue trees
And girls glanced lovelier as the air grew dim,
—In the old times, before he threw away his knees.
Now he will never feel again how slimGirls' waists are, or how warm their subtle hands,
All of them touch him like some queer disease.There was an artist silly for his face,
For it was younger than his youth
last year.
Now he is old; his back will never brace;
He's lost his colour very far from here,
Fouled it down shell-holes till the veins ran dry,
And half his lifetime lapsed in the hot race,
And leap of purple spurted from his thigh.
One time he liked a blood-mear-down his leg.
After the matches carried shoulder-high.
It was after football, when he'd drunk a peg,
He thought he'd better join. He wonders why...
Someone had said he'd look a god in kilts.That's why; and maybe, too, to please his Meg,
Aye, that was it, to please the girl-
dy jills,
He asked to join. He didn't have to beg;
Smiling they wrote his lie; aged nineteen years.Germans he scarcely thought of;
and no fears
Of Fear came yet. He thought of jewelled hilts
For daggers in plaid socks; of smart salutes;
And care of arms; and leave; and
pay arrears:
Esprit de corps; and hints for young recruits.
And soon he was drafted out with drums and cheers.Some cheered him home, but not as crowds cheer Goal.
Only a solemn man who brought him fruits
Tanked him; and then inquired about his soul.
Now, he will spend a few sick
years in Institutes;
And do what things the rules consider wise,
And take whatever pity they may dole.
To-night he noticed how the women's eyes
Passed from him to the strong men that were whole.
How cold and late it is! Why don't they come
And put him into bed? Why don't they come?

"What else
WOULD I DO?"Of course, I'm buying Victory Bonds—double what I bought last year. And that doesn't make me any hero, either . . . I saw enough of the last war to know what my boy will be going through some day soon, and anything I can possibly do looks mighty small alongside that.In fact, I don't figure it's a sacrifice at all. Sure, I'm doing without a lot of things I used to think were necessary. But I've got more money put away in Victory Bonds than I ever saved before. There will be lots of time to buy the things Mother and I are doing without, once we lick Hitler, and Bill's back home again — if he comes back!Until then, I'm putting Victory first. What else would I do?KEEP ON BUYING
